Topic: Ensuring education for all
Sponsor: Vietnam

The general assembly,

Keeping in mind that education is a fundamental human right and a global public good that allows spiritual elevation, the awareness of a presence on earth and its consequences.

Recalling that it is necessary to install responsible and sustainable values in current and future generations through education.

Knowing that education is a human right and a public good that must remain so

Keeping in mind that education promotes social and economical mobility and is a way out of poverty.

Given the current state of access to education around the world, on behalf of Vietnam, ONU members have to remain concerned about this issue,

1. Requests to ONU members to find a solution to the lack of transport, of infrastructure, and access to culture;
2. Proposes to implement policies to help families support their children in their education, both at school and outside school;
3. Calls ONU members to ensure that teachers and educators are empowered, adequately recruited, professionally trained and qualified, and motivated and supported within effectively and efficiently managed and resourced systems, according to the Icheon Declaration;
4. Suggests that all education inequalities (minorities, refugees, poverty, disabled children, gender) should be reduced by minimizing the link between social origin and educational background or diploma;
5. Requests to ONU to improve access to Technology as teaching and learning increasingly move to virtual spaces;
6. Suggests not only to improve access to education, but also to improve its quality with more appropriate programmes. Today too many students leave school because what they learn does not meet their current or future needs;
7. Calls ONU members to support gender-responsive policies, planning and learning environments, and integrating gender issues into teacher training and curriculum, and eliminating gender-based discriminations and violence in schools;

8. Request to ONU to promote quality lifelong learning opportunities for all, in all contexts and at all levels of education.
