Delight as dolphins spotted in New York's Bronx River

The Bronx was known to be a very polluted river, companies were dumping waste in it for decades. But efforts were made and thanks to underwater microphones, they detected dolphins in the river which had never happened in years. This is a great sign that the water is getting cleaner and that efforts can pay off.

Novak Djokovic overcomes injury to reach Australia Open round of 16

Djokovic, probably the favorite of the competition after Nadal's defeat, won against Grigor Dimitrov after a difficult game. He started the game with a hamstring injury and was forced to take a medical break. Finally, this injury didn't prevent him from imposing himself once again. He will now face Australian Alex de Minaur.
